SPORT ASSISTANT

Be part of a challenging and exciting learning environment, within sport and beyond.

Eton College believes in providing an all-round education for our pupils, involving them in a deep commitment to the full co-curriculum. Sport has been central to the Eton curriculum for some time – the first ever recorded inter-school fixture is an Eton v Westminster cricket match in 1796; amateur rowing was established here, and the Eton Field Game trophy is even older than the FA Cup! Today we provide organised sport on six afternoons per week.

As a Resident Sport Assistant living at Eton, you will have the opportunity to gain experience across all aspects of the school, but your primary activities will be assisting our extensive co-curricular sport programme. Alongside this you will work with our Summer School programme, help the school deliver our annual calendar of events, and perform House Assistant duties within two of our Boarding Houses.

In return, we offer a comprehensive benefits package including free accommodation on site, subsidised meals, a range of other additional employee discounts and opportunities for personal development, such as the opportunity to undertake a number of coaching qualifications during your time at Eton. Previous Sport Assistants have gone on to achieve successful careers in sport, coaching and teaching.

This two year opportunity is for anyone with a passion for sport and the ability to convey this enthusiasm to young people. Along with excellent social skills, you will need natural coaching abilities, an open mind to consider and value the perspective of others, and the desire and dedication to make a difference to young people's lives through sport. As one recent Sport Assistant stated, "The Graduate Assistant role has exceeded my expectations providing me with exposure to all aspects of school life whether that be academic, co-curricular or the boarding environment where I've had very positive interactions with staff and pupils."

SPORT AT ETON

Life at Eton is vibrant, varied, exciting, challenging and immensely rewarding – for pupils and staff alike.

The school was founded by Henry VI in 1440, and is today the largest boys' boarding school in the UK. In keeping with the charitable intentions of our founder, we welcome pupils from all backgrounds. This year pupils joined us from over 120 different schools from across the country and 10% of pupils come from overseas.

Today's school is a forward-thinking and increasingly diverse community. Inclusivity, development and innovation in teaching and learning are our guiding values. We are a modern, forward-thinking school, always seeking to work at the forefront of developments in teaching and learning.

Our aim is to offer opportunities for every student to take part in and learn through sport. Our co-curricular programme is designed to encourage a rich and diverse experience for all pupils, enabling pupils to identify and develop skills and strengths outside the classroom, through a huge variety of activities including sport, societies, outdoor education, arts, music and theatre.

Every boy is offered a full sporting programme and almost all members of the teaching staff are involved in delivering sport in some form or other. Opportunity is key: pupils play for school teams and in house competitions for all major sports teams including football, rugby, hockey and cricket, as well as a broad array of other sports such as fencing, squash, rackets, martial arts and water polo.

Games are central to Eton's curriculum, not just because pupils enjoy them, but because they help to develop many of the qualities in which the school believes. On some match days, there may be as many as 50 games being played, including Eton's original football games, such as the Wall Game and the Field Game. Eton Fives is another 'original' sport; although other versions of Fives have been developed and now the game is played nationally and internationally by many schools and clubs; with current Eton pupils making very good use of our 16 courts.

Whilst pupils enjoy playing sport in their own right, the process of engaging in sport at Eton also embodies many qualities promoted by the College, such as learning to win and lose; to push oneself to, and perhaps beyond, one's perceived limits; to think as part of a team; to know when to strive for more and when to acknowledge defeat. Consequently, we aim to give every pupil the chance to benefit from learning through sport by playing, improving and enjoying the sport of their choice.
